Team Nobacco.....The Invisible Tobacco Twinstroyers

In a world being contaminated by tobacco and its damaging effects, there were two heroes that arose from the fumes and chew to put a final end to this devastation. These super power tobacco trashers were not only true heroes, but were identical twins also. They could read each other's minds and worked together in their mission to banish all of the world's tobacco, one city at a time. Their names are Nic O. Clean and Nix O. Teen otherwise known as Team Nobacco...The Invisible Tobacco Twinstroyers. In their quest for clean air and human wellness, they encountered a toxic nemesis named Toby Acco. Fighting along side this disease-causing agent were his health-destroying villains, the Cancerous Tobacco Toxoids. They thought they were unstoppable but they had finally met their match. Team Nobacco extinguished all of their efforts to harm all of the world's people with their toxic chemicals and smoke. In their battle to gain control of the population and protect healthy lungs and mouths everywhere, Team Nobacco joined forces to ensure that Toby Acco and his troublesome toxoids, Carcino and Gens, were never inhaled or chewed again. Nix O. Teen is the first half of Team Nobacco and has the super power to sniff out all tobacco and its location with his "nicosense" no matter where it is. He also has the incredible power to reverse the brain's chemical addiction to tobacco. Nic O. Clean makes up the second half of Team Nobacco and has the super ability to destroy the tobacco by erasing all traces of it. He can also replace all secondhand smoke and infectious chemicals with clean air through his super conversion abilities. In their fight to protect humanity and preserve life, this health-protecting duo can detect the use of tobacco from anywhere at anytime. They show up undetected because they are invisible, and together, they instantly make tobacco and its harmful toxins vanish while the unsuspected victim of the incapacitating tobacco trio remains in a 5-second tobacco "cleaning trance." During this trance, the Twinstroyers not only banish and condemn Toby Acco and his murderous co-horts to eternal detoxification, but they also relieve the victims' bodies of the devastating effects of the harmful chemicals that have already invaded their systems by filtering the toxins that exist out of the body through the pores in the skin. Once the poisonous chemicals reach the outside of the body, they evaporate from the skin into the air and the intoxicated air is inhaled by Nic O. Clean, twinstroying all of the toxins' suffocating and devastating potential, and converting it to fresh air. This is a process known as "vacuum-conversion." Any surrounding secondhand smoke is also removed from the air and "vacuum converted" to make it safe and breathable. While his twin, Nic O. Clean diligently at work, Nix O. Teen manipulates the brain's chemistry to alter any addictive tendencies of the victims toward tobacco. When the life-saving trance is over, there is no memory of the "nicocleaning" and the addiction that feeds this deadly tobacco craving is completely reversed, eliminating the victim's desire to use tobacco. Even more amazing is that all of the previous memories of tobacco use prior to this life-changing transition are discarded from the brain. Once the nicocleansing process and chemical desensitizing is complete, the long lasting effects are irreversible and there is no longer a need for the victim to use tobacco ever again, sending Toby Acco and his troublesome toxoids into complete "toblivion" before they realize what "nixted" them. These chemical crime fighters will continue on their quest to save the world until their mission is complete and the world is ridded completely of Toby Acco and his terrorizing toxoids. They regularly visit schools and talk to the children about the harmful effects of tobacco, educating kids early to protect them from the evil advances of tobacco and its deadly toxins. They also replace tobacco-promoting advertisements with anti-Tobacco rallies that get communities actively involved in the lifelong fight to wipe out tobacco for good. And finally, they work together to bring down the powerful tobacco empires that create these monsters.
